City Election Tuesday - Vote for Change in City Hall

AN EDITORIAL

As the April 14 City Election draws near it is evident that incumbent candidates for the Upland City Council, William Kistinger and Bob Marriott, are "running scared."

They have not taken advantage of THE NEWS' offer to present their views to the voters freely, openly and publicly in the pages of this newspaper. You might ask yourselves, "why?"

Instead, they, or some of their friends, are conducting a telephone campaign which accuses this newspaper of operating a "smear campaign" against them. Nothing could be further from the truth.

Our "campaign" against Mr. Kistinger and Mr. Marriott has not been a "smear." We have merely pointed out the many goings-on within the Council since they have been in office.

As a matter of fact, THE NEWS supported both Mr. Kistinger and Mr. Marriott in the previous election. At that time, we asked no favors and received none. And none since!

The same situation exists in our support of Ronald Rossitter and George Gibson. We ask no favors except for good, clean, honest government. We believe the people have not received government in their best interests.

We feel it is only proper to warn the citizens of Upland that in these final days prior to the election it is very likely that a real "smear campaign" will be conducted against THE NEWS for our support of Mr. Rossitter and Mr. Gibson and for exposing the conflict-of-interest and secrecy which has prevailed in the present City Council.

THE NEWS also has been accused of being "un-American" as well as vicious. Regardless of the way any citizens feel about the candidates or the newspaper, we are sure you know we are definitely not "un-American." We sincerely believe it is not "un-American"nor vicious to keep people informed of government happenings and especially to oppose self-interest, conflict of interest, favortism, secrecy, etc.

Because of the "railroading" project completed between 9th and C Streets on the Euclid Ave. Parkway, we brought out the attempted plans to revamp the avenue completely.

We feel we were instrumental in having the Euclid Parkway referendum placed on the ballot. Because of the great controversy, it is best to allow the taxpayers and citizens to make the ultimate decision on what will happen to our famous avenue.

Now that it is on the ballot, the voice of the people should be heard, and not a mockery made of the ballot process.

Neither Mr. Kistinger nor Mr. Marriott have said they will recognize the outcome of the referendum. They like the proposed plans to "jazz up" the parkway with five varieties of trees, concrete walls, flag poles, and a reflection pool.

We do not like it, nor do we believe the majority of the citizens like it. We have many other places to spend our tax dollars, such as park development and a decent fire department.

One of the biggest issues facing the voters in this election is the matter of zoning. Too often the present Council has disregarded the Planning Commission and the Master Plan to favor some special group.

As of last September there were 343 acres zoned for commercial development in Upland with only 70 being utilized. Since that time, there has been other property zoned for commercial use including strip zoning despite objections from many citizens and over the advice of the Planning Commission. We object primarily to the "manner" and "favoritism" shown in making decisions.

We have faith in the people being able to run their own government.

We have faith that the people of Upland recognize that changes need to be made in City Hall.

Between the secrecy, the self-interest, and conflict-of-interests, and favoritism, government in Upland has slid into a morass that desperately calls for the election of new men to the Council — George Gibson and Ronald Rossitter.

Both are men of integrity, with varied backgrounds essential to bringing stature to Upland's city government.

Both, we predict, will be elected in a landslide.

And along with their landslide, there will be a similar landslide for retaining the parkway on Euclid Avenue in its simple and natural rows of trees.

Why do we go out on a limb and predict landslides for Gibson and Rossitter? Because we have a basic faith in the people, that they want and expect good government, and that when they are aware of the attitudes and atmosphere such as exists in Upland today . . . that they will vote for a change.

Truth Challenged In NEWS Award

(Editor's Note: Below is the text of a letter written March 31 by Mrs. John R. Ward of 1695 N. Laurel Ave., Upland, to Harvey Walters, Business Manager of the California Newspaper Publishers Association. The letter is complete as written, and printed without Mrs. Ward's knowledge or permission that we have a copy.)

March 31, 1964

Dear Mr. Waters: (Sic)

In February of 1964 the California Newspaper Publishers Association awarded a First Place Plaque for the "Best Series of Articles" to the Upland News and its publisher Mr. Mel Hodell. My question is this. Was this award based solely on the written presentation of the articles or were the articles also checked for factual reporting? You can easily see that there is a world of difference. An award for "Fact" or "Fiction".

In his last editorial Mr. Hodell is using this award as proof that what he said in the articles was true. Here is a paragraph taken from that editorial—quote—By breaking up this cute little mess, or at least by breaking some of it out in the open, we won a major prize among all California daily and weekly newspapers. Believe us—we didn't win that award for nothing.' —unquote—

The implication here is that Mr. Hodell won his award for "factual" reporting. Therefore the winning of this award is "proof" that his accusations are true. I could write pages taking those articles apart and exposing them for what they really were—a bunch of hogwash—but that is not the problem I am concerned with.

I feel that the record should be kept straight. An award for "writing" should not be used as a tool to try and convince the people that the award was for "factual" reporting or for "proof" the articles were true. Please reply as to exactly what this award was presented for.

Sincerely,
Mrs. John R. Ward
1695 N. Laurel Ave.
Upland, Calif.

Editor's reply:

A copy of the rules for the contest were sent Mrs. Ward by CNPA. They state (just as we printed Feb. 20) that "Individual initiative in developing material will be a factor in juding." The category was: "Best article or series of articles reflecting thorough, accurate investigation and interpretation of a situation which in the public interest called for a presentation of facts, analysis, clarification or exposure."

Readers should know that Mrs. Ward is part and parcel of the Downing and Ward group which has received exceptional consideration and favoritism from Incumbents Kistinger and Marriott (along with Mayor Haldeman) in matters of zoning and construction, the latest being the strip zoning for commercial and apartments on Mountain Ave. from 17½ to 19th. If Rossitter and Gibson are elected these developers' favored positions will be ended and they will be treated the same as all other citizens, no better or no worse.

THE NEWS maintains that every article submitted in this contest, along with everything otherwise printed, is to the best of its knowledge true and factual.

Can Mrs. Ward offer proof

Unsold Houses

FHA Rejecting Conditional Appraisals

The Federal Housing Administration last week put a "temporary clamp" on area housing by announcing to lending institutions that it would reject conditional commitments.

Such conditional commitments are normally made by FHA on request when someone seeks an appraisal to have FHA guarantee a loan for a definite amount. The commitment is usually valid for a six months period.

The condition exists in Upland, Alta Loma, Cucamonga, Montclair, Chino and Ontario because of the number of unsold houses in the area.

According to C. V. Thompson, assistant manager of the Upland Branch, Bank of America, it is a temporary condition and a more thorough survey by FHA is expected in two or three weeks.

Charles Gehrken, manager of the Foothill Office, First National Bank and Trust Co., said that at present the only way to get an FHA loan is to have the purchaser.

"FHA will not do conditional appraising at the present time," Gehrken said.

W. Harold Warwick, manager of the San Bernardino office of FHA which covers this area, told THE NEWS that his office is "doing business as usual."

"It went into effect last week," he said, "but is nothing new for FHA. This has been done in other areas many times in the past. We are still accepting applications from prospective purchasers."

However, Warwick explained that because of the "abundance of housing" in the area, FHA will not make conditional appraisals at the present time.

Protests Received

City Annexations Dropped by Council

Upland City Council voted unanimously Tuesday night to terminate proposals for two annexations to the city.

Public hearings had been set for 8 p.m. and 9 p.m. on the two separate proposals which had been approved by the Local Agency Formation Commission.

Because of the overwhelming protests received from the property owners in the areas involved, each separate proposal was terminated just minutes before the scheduled hearings.

The first proposal, annexation No. 19, comprised the area bounded by the county line on the west, 16th St. on the north, Benson Ave. on the east, and Foothill Blvd. on the south. This area includes Cable Airport.

The second proposal, annexation No. 20, was bounded by the county line on the west, 24th St. on the north, the city limits on the east, and 20th St. on the south.

Written protests for this annexation were filed with the City Clerk by Mrs. George H. Whitney and comprised an aggregate assessed valuation of $63,820 out of the total area valuation of $88,260.

This area also includes a 52-acre parcel owned by the City of Ontario. The Local Agency Formation Commission had approved annexation of this property to Ontario subject to Upland failing to annex the entire area.

Councilmen also approved by a 3-2 vote a zone change from A-1 (agriculture) to R-3 (multiple family residential) 4.75 acres on the south side of 13th St., 900 feet west of Mountain Ave.

Although the re-zoning had been approved by the Planning Commission as a logical extension of an R-3 zone, protests were registered with the Council from Dewey Cable, owner of Cable Airport, located one half mile northwest, and Mrs. John Graham, 627 Emerson.

Cable has consistently pleaded with the Council for a special airport zone east of Cable Airport. Mrs. Graham also pleaded for the Council not to zone residential near an airport.

Upland Mayor Denounces 'Innuendoes'

"The American way of life is one of trust," said Upland Mayor Abner Haldeman in opening remarks at Tuesday night's Council.

"It is considered academic smartness today to have inquiring minds. We are living in a day when we must assess and analyze the freedoms we enjoy, but sometimes we get only part of the facts.

"We are living in a day when it seems to be smart if a person is suspected, a day when innuendoes are passed from one tongue to another and we must be careful," the Mayor said.

Obviously aimed at NEWS publisher Mel Hodell, the Mayor told the audience that "when the chair came on the Council" there prevailed a friendly atmosphere.

"The former publisher only published legals according to law and there were no innuendoes," Mayor Haldeman stated.

The former publisher of the NEWS had served on the City Council.

"The city needs to come closer together in understanding," he said. "I want good government in this city. I have lived here 19 years and I have yet to have people come to my office and ask questions on my personal life.

"There are principles involved as far as good government is concerned . . . tolerance and respect for the other person. We need to get the facts with love and tolerance."

Park Committeeman Urges Plan Approval

(Editor's Note: The following article was submitted for publication by Richard Holdaway, member of the City Park and Recreation Committee. It is printed in full as promised by THE NEWS.)

"I appreciate this opportunity to comment on the Park and Recreation Committee proposed landscaping plan for Euclid Ave. and its part as a major issue in next week's election. As a committee member I helped develop this plan, noted in favor of recommending its adoption by the City Council and I now strongly recommend that the voters of Upland approve it in the coming election.

"Editorials and other articles appearing in the Upland News have called our plan, "a Hodgepodge of modernistic Landscaping," "a Patchwork Jumble," "a conglomeration," "Jazzed Up," etc.

"Such statements do not reflect an honest difference of opinion but rather show a basic disrespect for the weighted opinions of others, and are deliberately used to build a "good guys" versus "bad guys" type controversy in our community.

"It has been statedby the Upland News and by others supporting the candidacy of George Gibson and Mike Rossitter for City Council that the only way to preserve the beauty of Euclid Ave. is to reject the Parks and Recreation Committee's plan and also the incumbent Councilmen William Kistinger and Bob Marriott.

"This attempt to lump the Parkway plan with the incumbent Councilmen to make one large target may be good strategy for those short of amunition but it certainly does not lend itself to a fair appraisel of the Parkway plan merits.

"In the Thursday issue March 26, 1964 the Upland News printed a campaign statement by George Gibson. In part of his statement he said:

"Both incumbents, in their campaigning for re-election have clearly expressed that they will ignore the will of the people as reflected by the Euclid Ave. Parkway referendum, if it is contrary to their plans for an expensive modernized Parkway, a portion of which already has been installed between 9th and C on Euclid Ave."

"Other persons including Mike Rossitter supporters are referring voters to the 9th and "C" street palm trees and plantings to see an example of the proposed Euclid Ave. landscaping. These voters are being told that this is the type of landscaping that will be installed unless the incumbent Councilmen are defeated.

"The present planting at 9th and "C" street with its skinny windmill palms is in no way an example of our proposed design. The Parks and Recreation Committee are in agreement that these palms must be removed and the other planting on this block changed to conform to our

Airports Ask Tax Relief

(CNS) — A plea for tax relief for the Tri-City airport at Redlands and Upland's Cable airport was received sympathetically Monday by the County Board of Supervisors.

Supervisor Daniel D. Mikesell asked representatives of the airports to get together with the county counsel and the county assessor to draft an amendment to the State Counstitution to allow assessments on private airports to be wiped out.

"It behooves us to do all we can," said Supervisor S. Wesley Break, "Because we'll be putting these people out of business."

Supervisor Paul Young declared that Chino's city airport has an advantage over private airports, although there is competition between them.

A proposed draft of a law to clear the way for a consitutional amendment is to be drawn up in time for Mikesell to take it to Sacramento on April 21.

UC Students Set Work Day

The annual Work Day for Upland College students has been set for April 24.

Work Day, a tradition each spring, is a day on which students from the college trek out into the community doing work in order to earn money for a campus improvement project. All students participate in the "Day" with those students who have regular jobs contributing all or part of their day's earnings to the project.

In past years students have been able to purchase many items for the campus, including furniture for student lounge and dining hall, a new floor and bleachers for the college gym, curtain and hymn books for the cahpel.

Last year they were able to raise over $700 on their Work Day. This was due to the hearty support of Upland College friends as well as for the excellent work of the students in the Upland-Ontario area, explained Andrew Chu, Chairman for the Work Day Committee.

If you have a fence that needs to be painted, windows to be washed, or a garage to be cleaned out, why not help yourself and Upland College by giving an Upland College student a chance to help his school.

Should you have a job, for male or female, from yard work to office work, please call Upland College at YUkon 5-1801.

Homeowners Hear Council Candidates

"Meet Your Candidates" was the theme of the Upland Homeowners' League meeting last Sunday evening. After a short business discussion, the two candidates for City Council, who are endorsed by the Homeowners, led a lively discussion on issues pertinent to the present election.

Mr. George Gibson gave the group a number of interesting facts concerning commercial zoning in Upland.

"Few people realize," he said, "that some 350 acres are already zoned for commercial development, although only about 70 acres are being utilized as such at the present time."

Mr. Gibson suggested that Upland try to bring business into the areas already zoned instead of continuing to rezone merely for speculative purposes.

One member brought up the subject of behavior and attitudes of council members toward other members of the council as well as citizens in the audience. The general concensus was that it does not behoove an individual in public office to be anything but dignified.

"We believe that a change in the Council would rectify any such situations," Mrs. Pat Wilder, chairman of Homeowners, said.

Councilman James Christenson, a candidate for State

Councilman Hawkins Tells Parkway Stand

(Editor's Note: In an attempt to clarify his stand on the Euclid Ave. Parkway landscaping proposal, the followig article was submitted by Councilman A. M. Hawkins, Jr., chairman of the City Parks and Recreation Committee.)

"This seems to be the season for writing letters to, and articles for, the newspaper. Rather than be left out I would like to contribute my two cents worth.

"In last week's Upland News, there was a lengthy article conveying the beliefs of a number of the members of the Park and Recreation Committee on the future of Euclid Ave. Such an article really should include the thinking and beliefs of ALL the members of the Committee, (even mine, the chairman) or this article should not have come out under the name of the Park and Recreation Committee.

"I feel I must now express my views on the Euclid Avenue Parkway. I want it to stay as nearly as possible to what it has been, namely: two uniform rows of one variety of shade trees with lawn under the trees.

"In my two years on the City Council I have tried my best to accomplish this. I voted against the "new plan" (sample—9th St. to "C" St.) and also voted against the hiring of the landscape architect who developed the present plans at a cost of almost $1,400 of the taxpayers money. This action, to hire the landscape architect, on March 19, 1963 was passed by a 3 to 2 vote, and we all know who was "3" and who was "2".

"As these "new look" plans were being developed I was the "one" on the Park and Recreation Committee in every 5-1 vote. I just do not like the idea of 5 types of trees, stone walls, flag poles, and reflection pools on our Avenue. Not only that, I do not care for the costs involved in this plan. The estimated cost of the "fancy work" is over $23,000 with the year in and year out maintenance costs greatly increased.

"I have lived in Upland 41 years and I still like Euclid Avenue as it has been with one variety of shade tree and no modern jazz.

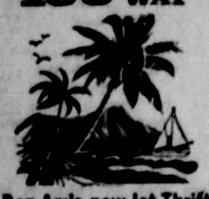

"In cities all over the world there are beautiful avenues and parks that are famous as they are, and as they have been, and Euclid Ave. is one of them. To "modernize" it would be nothing less than a crime.

"These proposed plans for a street are really not too bad—for some other street, but let's not let this happen to one of the most admired avenues in the United States. We know, we have something we like and many thousands of others like, let's hang on to it.

"I sincerely hope a great maiority of the citizens of Upland will vote to retain our avenue in the simple beauty that has made it famous and us proud of it."

Smoke Signals

By Valerie Lee Prisel

Here I go! Adding more fuel to the fire!!!

Wow! Have you heard the great news? The Alta Loma varsity baseball team is really going to bat! And building up to a "sparkling" reputation on the diamond. The Braves have a record of undefeats, in the Inland League play.

Friday, April 3, they met with Sierra Vista on the Alta Loma field and they played an outstanding game, the final score was 9-0. Steve Kokor is continuing with his fine playing and outstanding skills in baseball, as well as he did in basketball.

One track meet will be held this week, on April 9. Bloomington will host the Braves at this time.

Pull up your couch — and answer this self-analysis questionaire . . .

1. Do you enjoy baseball?
2. Do you especially enjoy the game if your team is winning?
3. Do you know the score?
4. Do you know they are high on the list for Inland League Champions?
5. Wwere you there rooting for your fellow Braves?

If your answers are all "yes" haep good pale face If yor answers are negative — UGH! — redface with dishonor! Two opportunities are awaiting you, as our team will be playing two home games in a row this week. The first, on April 10, against Glenn High, and the one following on April 14, against Gladstone High. Come on Braves — Let's play ball!

Care for swimming? LaSalle is traveling to Alta Loma on April 12, for a swim meet against our team. I'll be looking for you there!

Another play will soon be under way, here at Alta Loma. Rehearsals will be in the evening from 6:30-9 p.m. Auditions will be held on April 13, also in the evening, so, if you're interested, hike over to the reservation for auditions on the above date.

As I gaze into my crystal ball, I can see "heap fun" in the near future. An assembly we've all been looking forward to. I see a tall, dark, and handsome world traveler and explorer, with a Van Dyke beard. He will be narrating a film, which is one of his many adventures. Does anyone have any idea who this fascinating person might be??

It is none other than Mr. John Goddard. The date to remember is April 17 . . . and now to "fan the flame" . . . for more "Smoke Signals." . .

Nawakwa Registration

March 30, marked the opening of registration for the 1964 camping season of Camp Nawakwa, owned and operated by the Camp Fire Girls, Mt. San Antonio Council.

Nawakwa is located in the Barton Flats of the San Bernardino Mountains, about sixty-five miles from Pomona. It serves as home away from home for over 1,000 campers from seven to seventeen years of age during eight one week sessions in June, July, and August. The camp is open to any girl.

Registration forms and information about the camp are available at the Camp Fire Girls office in Pomona (National 9-0908 or EDgewood 9-6086).

Hiking, riding, swimming, canoeing, dramatics, handarts, naturelore, overnight camping trips, song fests, and outdoor cookery are a few of the events which occur each session at Nawakwa.

Girls live in units with about twenty-four other campers their own age. A unit director and four counselors work, plan, and play with the campers. Teepees, kiosks, tents, and cabins set among the tall pines serve as the living facilities for the various age groups.

Counselors are well qualified college students and teachers. A staff of over thirty-five women are hired to provide a creative program for the campers. A registered nurse is in camp at all times to maintain health standards and provide first aid.

Two qualified school cooks prepare mounds of good food served in an attractive dining room. Applications are still being accepted for camp counselors, a camp nurse, and camp caretakers.

Scotch Talk

By Cecilia Alvarado

Have you noticed anything great on campus? I'm talking about the tremendous amount of work put out by Student Council. It doesn't come home until you are a member, as I am (Plaid Press Representative), and you observe the efforts of these kids firsthand.

Events like queen assemblies, The Box Lunch Social, the Donkey Basketball game require good planning and organization and dependable carry-through. Four cheers for the Student Council of 1963-1964!

Song and yell leaders for next year were elected after an assembly Thursday presenting the semi-finalists. Congratulations to song leaders Donna Jackson, Chris Winterbourne, Judy Holroyd, and Paige Rasmussen; and to new yell leaders Pam Leuthold, Suzanne Angel, Judy Johnston, Gloria Kaelin, and Marsha Fuller.

Pep Commissioner Barb Baumgart was enthusiastic about all the girls who tried out for the terrific job they did learning and perfecting their routines in such a short time.

I'm going to take this oportunity to explain the rather unique rules of the Sadie Hawkins Dance (April 10) as set forth by the all-male Interact Club. From Monday until Tuesday noon, if a boy asked a girl, the girl will have to pay for the tickets; from Tuesday noon until Friday, a boy asked by a girl will have to pay. But don't ask me what would happen if a girl asked a boy on Monday!

Also included in the assembly Thursday was the presentation of Gold Seal Bearers by Mr. Glasheen. These kids qualified for Gold Seal by making CSF for four semesters out of seven: John Bagby, Barbara Baumgart, Barb Beard, Rosale Billings, Pat Callaway, Sheila Clack, Janet Burlingame.

Speaking of CSF, members of the Scholarship will have their semester field trip on Wednesday, May 10 when they will go in to LA for a showing of "Becket" (Peter O'Toole!) with dinner afterwards. Get the necessary sign-up sheets from Mrs. Smith and pay your two dollars by Friday. Please.

Don't forget: April 8—Donkey Basketball Game; April 10—Sadie Hawkins Dance; April 17 — Box Lunch Social; May 6 — CSF Field trip; May 20—Sports Night.

Bell Choir Entertains Beulahs

Beulah Circle of the Upland First Methodist Church met Thursday evening, April 2, at the home of Mrs. Lewis Stokes, 1574 Iris Way, Upland. Mrs. Loren Moore, circle chairman, presided over the meeting.

Guests introduced were Mmes. Frances Plett and Alita Heida. Mrs. Robert Erickson presented the devotional service, using "Spring" as a theme. She read "A Certain Tree" and "Whispered Hints."

Miss Betty Jane Lawson, choir director of the church, was introduced. Miss Lawson outlined the history of hand bells, pointing out that bells were associated with worship as early as Old Testament times.

The set of three octive English hand bells belonging to the church required approximately two years to make. They were made in the White Chapel Foundry in London and were completely made by hand—hand cast and hand tuned.

Miss Lawson directed the Chapel Bell Choir in a series of musical selections, and members of the circle also participated in the bell ringing.

Following the program, Mrs. Moore conducted the business session. The report of the nominating committee was presented, and the following officers were elected to serve: Mrs. Robert Clarke, Circle Chairman; Mrs. Harold Stickney, Vice-Chairman; and Mrs. George Bean, Secretary-Treasurer.

Refreshments were served from a tea table which had as a centerpiece a silver candelabra with pink candles, surrounded by pink camelias. Mrs. Moore poured from the silver tea service. Assisting the hostess were Mmes. Dwight Campbell and Alan Bescoby.

Gibson Comments on Euclid Parkway

(Editor's Note: Upland City Council candidate George M. Gibson has offered the following information relative to a previous statement made on the Euclid Parkway referendum.)

"A member of the present Parks and Recreation Committee has advised me of what he feels is a misleading inference in my statement which appeared in the "Upland News" issue of March 26, 1964 to the effect that the planting on Euclid Parkway between 9th and "C" Strets is a portion of their overall plan for Euclid Avenue.

"This committee member pointed out that the records of the City Clerk reflect that at a City Council meeting on Dec. 18, 1962, it was:

'Moved by Kistinger that the City Manager be authorized to proceed with the planting of the block on Euclid Ave. Parkway between 9th Street and "C" Street, according to the adopted plan for such plantings. Seconded by Marriott and carried. Councilmen Hawkins and Christensen cast a dissenting vote declaring their preference for the simplicity of tree plantings — feeling that simplicity has been the charm of Euclid Avenue and the cost of the proposed plantings are more costly to install and maintain.'

"The committee member informed me that in March of 1963 the Parks and Recreation Committee accepted an assignment to restudy the landscape plan for Euclid Avenue median strip between Foothill Boulevard and Seventhe Street. This member informed me that his committee did not adopt the planting between 9th and "C" Streets in its plan. According to this member, the present committee recommends that this section be replanted.

"I would like to correct any misconception which my statement may have caused. However, the City Clerk's record does reflect that one of the two incumbents campaigning for reelection made the motion for the planting of Euclid Parkway between 9th and C Streets in accordance with the adopted plan. The other such incumbent seconded the motion. I feel that this is a clear indication of their desires for Euclid Parkway.

"At this time I would like to reiterate my personal preference for a Euclid Parkway similar to its present beautiful, simple form instead of the proposed plan for a modernized parkway with five different types of trees, flagpoles, reflection pool, etc. Regardless of this preference, I would recognize and support the expression of the voters through the Euclid Parkway referendum, if elected to the Council."

George Gibson

UPLAND REPUBLICAN HEADQUARTERS was visited Friday, April 3, by two Congressmen "to help elect a Republican Congressman from the 33rd District." From left above, discussing strategy, are: Morton C. Hull, chairman of the local United Republicans of California; David Hopley, president of the Chaffey District Young Republicans; Congressman John B. Anderson of Illinois; Mrs. George Wallin, director of Upland GOP Headquarters; Mrs. John Plasman, vice president of the Federated Republican Women; and Congressman Robert Dole of Kansas. The visiting Congressmen discussed ways to place emphasis on the Congressional election in a presidential year, how to regain control of the House, and the battle against communism.

Justice Court Pay Increases Now Face Local Taxpayers

(CNS) — Pay increases that average $8,300 annually for judges in justice courts in San Bernardino County with more than 10,000 residents now face local taxpyaers, the County Board of Supervisors was told Monday.

Included among the 14 judges who would benefit by legislation now pending in Sacramento are those in Upland and Cucamonga.

Robert Covington, county administrative officer, told Supervisors that he had put the county on record as opposing the pay raises, which would cost the county over $116,000. He added that he could revoke that protest if Supervisors wished him to telephone Sacramento.

But Board members were indignant at the proposed increases. They asked if county judges were supporting the pay increase bill, and Covington answered: "I haven't heard that they're opposing it."

Covington said that the bill setting the higher salaries, in many cases more than doubling what judges are now making, also would take authority over justice courts where more than 10,000 reside away from the Board of Supervisors. Only the 12 districts with less than 10,000 residents would have their pay unchanged and remain under local authority.

This made Board members even madder. "It's a dirty, rotten shame," Supervisor S. Wesley Break declared, and Supervisor Paul J. Young said these were supposed to be "grass roots courts, but this is not very grass rooty." The Board then told Covington it backed his actions.

The proposed pay scales were given by Covington as follows, by district, present annual pay and proposed pay:

Barstow	$8,580	$16,500
Bloomington	$8,124	$14,500
Chino	$6,540	$15,500
Colton	$8,580	$16,500
Cucamonga	$4,200	$14,500
Fontana	$8,580	$16,500
Highland	$5,280	$14,500
Mission	$5,280	$14,500
Redlands	$8,580	$16,500
Rialto	$7,296	$15,500
29 Palms	$8,868	$14,500
Upland	$8,124	$15,500
Victor	$8,580	$15,500
Yucaipa	$5,280	$14,500

There are elections this year in all the county's justice court districts. Judges in these courts do not have to be lawyers, but must pass a test to prove their ability to handle the common-sense problems supposed to come before such courts.

Judges are also able to hold other jobs, so long as they fill their judicial functions.

ALHS Science Students Take Inland Fair Awards

A worm and a digital computer won honors for two Alta Loma High School science students at the recent Inland Science Fair.

Karen Walker and Larry Rempel worked out their projects in after-school hours, and brought home three awards from a field of over 300 science students.

Harry Couzins, science-math coordinator, said, "Six entries and three awards — wonderful! We dreamed of having a high school equipped so that students could realize their potential."

Because of a hitch in shipment of science equipment, the students and teachers used makeshift laboratories of their own ingenuity for three months at the beginning of the school year. Apparently, the "making do" was a healthy experience for the youngsters.

Karen chose an experiment whereby she trained planaria —very small flatworms — by placing them in a small trough and exposing them to electric lights. The tiny animals naturally avoid light, so they would turn away.

Then she gave them a mild electric shock at the time the light was turned on. The worms would remember to turn away longer with the shock. Also, the length of time the worm took to turn away was shortened each time because it remembered.

Then, Karen took a trained worm, which can reproduce asexually, and cut it in half. Both halfs grew new heads and tails, and both halfs remembered.

"Once I forgot and left the head and tail in the same trough and the tail ate the head, goofing up my experient," Karen said.

To further test out the theory that memory is chemical, Karen took two untrained worms. She then fed them a trained worm. Both untrained worms remembered.

This is the project that won Karen first place in physical science at the Inland Science Fair.

She is a freshman, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Walker, 8470 Monte Vista Ave., Alta Loma.

Larry made his own binary computer by first figuring out a wiring design. He then haunted surplus outlets until he found enough parts to make the computer, which is a system of relays that adds and subtracts.

Larry's project won fourth place in a field of 22, math computer division. He also won a special Navy Certificate Naval Ordnance Laboratory, Corona.

Downtown Merchants Urge Revitalization

Merchants and businessmen in downtown Upland voted Tuesday morning to go ahead with revitalization of the shopping section and to urge the city to develop the Civc Center in its present location.

The full motion as passed unanimously reads as follows:

"This assembly of merchants and property holders at a meeting held on April 7, feel that there is an urgent need for the revitalization of the downtown area.

"It is our desire that the City of Upland proceed with such a program, developing it step by step on a long-term basis in such a way as the majority of property owners and businessmen shall agree.

"It is further requested that the city take steps to develop the Civic Center in its present location as an integral part of such a revitalization program."

Approximately 25 persons were present during the meeting.

The city had requested that a statement of policy be made concerning the interest of the downtown area by April 21.

This policy basically commits Upland Shopping Center to some kind of improvement program, though not spelled out entirely at this time.

The proposed mall idea for USC was tabled for a later discussion, though some opposition to it appeared both from the standpoint of what must be done, and how this could be done.

It was pointed out the cost of the proposed mall would amount to an average monthly cost of between $2 and $10 per business, with the highest about $20, payable over a 25-year period.

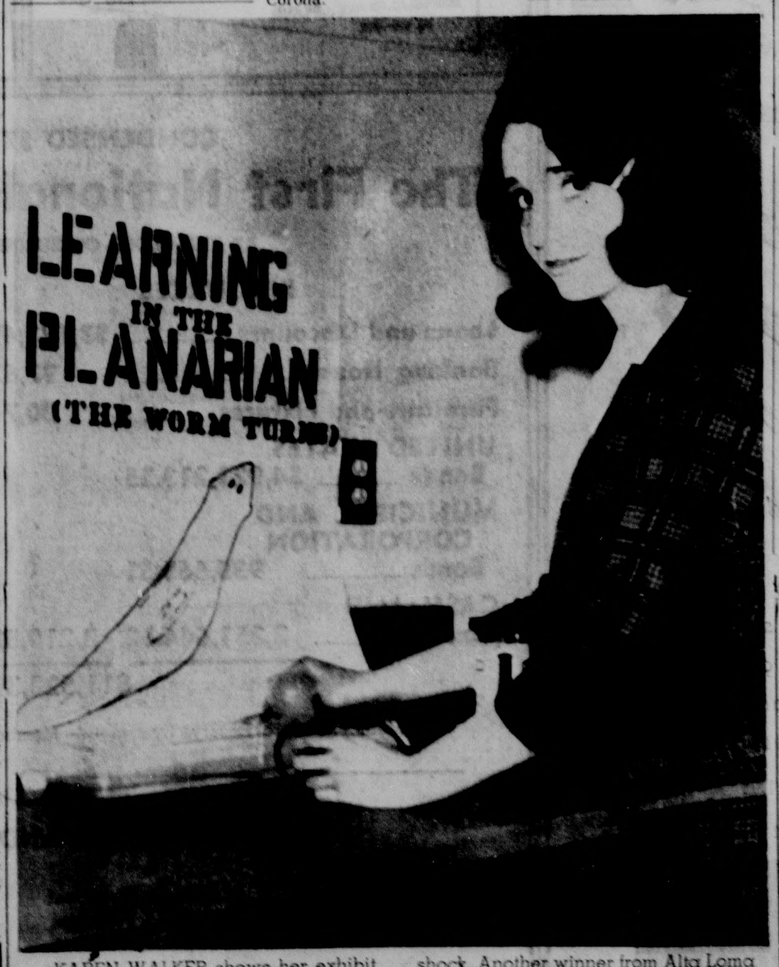

This was figured by the "original" parking district plan comprising an area from A to D and Euclid to 3rd, rather than by front footage, for purposes of illustration of the cost.

It was noted that it might cost 3 to 4 times in additional rent to move or locate in a new shopping center; that the citizens of Upland had an investment of $30 million in downtown Upland.

The possibility of the city widening 9th St. from Euclid to 1st Avenue was discussed as one of the first steps to be taken in improving the "opening" into Upland Shopping Center.

Park Committeeman Urges Plan Approval

basic plan of off-set rows of evergreen shade trees. Drawings of our recommended plan have been on public display since Nov. 18, 1963.

"Those who are making mistatements about it are either uninformed and blindly opposing it or else they seek some political gain by mis-representing the facts.

"The Upland News has said and others are repeating that I have "switched my thinking from preserving the historic the beauty of Euclid Parkway to the new jazzed up program."

"The News also stated that I might use the Parkway issue as a "stepping stone" to the City Council in this election. If I had tried I am certain it would have become a stumbling block and rightly so. No person or persons should use the loss of our lovely pepper trees and the problems related to relandscaping Euclid Ave., as a political tool.

"I have not switched; I have always been in favor of and worked towards preserving Euclid as an Avenue of beautiful evergreen shade trees. A year ago as chairman of the 'Citizens Committee To Save Euclid Avenue' I worked with other committee members to stop the Palm Tree landscaping started at 9th and "C" streets.

"After my subsequent appointment to the Park and Recreation Committee, I helped develop the present substitute plan along lines that I believe will preserve the traditional beauty of Euclid and at the same time comprehend the current and future problems of Euclid Parkway plantings.

"With the other Park and Recreation Committee members and Paul Hershey the landscape architect retained by the city for this purpose, I studied many trees and plantings in a sincere and objective effort to work out the most satisfactory plan. The considered proposals, recommendations and preferences of experts, individuals and city groups.

"Few plans ever win the approval of a democratic parlimentary body in the exact form in which they are proposed. Opposing parties argue back and forth, make bargains and compromises with each other, and thus arrive at decisions that are more nearly adjusted to the problems involved as well as the needs and desires of those in the community.

"The more advanced we are in democratic processes, the more honest and objective, and the more respect we have for the honest opinions of others, the more flexible and successful we become in reconciling the conflicting desires and recommendations of various experts and citizens.

"It was in this spirit that the Park and Recreation Committee developed the plan that we recommended to the council and presented at a public hearing on Nov. 19, 1963. It is this same plan that the citizens of Upland will approve or disapprove next week.

"It is unfortunate that the other choice offered the people is no choice at all. There is no optimum tree available to replace the peppers. Attempts to agree on one tree will only prolong the controversy that has raged hot and cold for the past ten years.

"I do not intend to vote for any of the candidates on the basis of how they have acted or might act towards our proposed plan. I think all four have to some extent abused the plan by making it a political issue in their personal campaigns for office. This has only detracted from the Parkway plan being judged on its own merits.

"I urge my fellow citizens to give the proposed Parkway Plan the independent consideration it deserves."

Chaffey Sport Awards Made

Chaffey College acknowledged the performances of its basketball and wrestling squads March 31 at the sixth annual Basketball - Wrestling Awards Banquet.

Awards and letters were presented to the hoopsters by head cage coach Barney Newlee, assistant coach Paul Smith and Tom Youlden.

Receiving honors for their standout play during the past campaign were Lynn Klassert, "Most Valuable Player" and second team all-Eastern Conference choice; Dale Abbott, most inspirational player; Bob Deagle free throw award and Rich O'Hanlon, Captain.

Coach Jack White handed out honors to the Panther matmen.

Selected for awards were a pair of freshmen from Fontana. Gary White, undefeated Eastern Conference champion in the 167-pound division, garnered the "Most Valuable Player" award, while Ralph Orr, unbeaten in 157-pound duel meet competition, was named Captain.

Featured speaker at the banquet was Ted Ducey, head cage and tennis mentor at Claremont Mudd College. He spoke on the importance in team play of "the little things" and of the ability of a group of men to really think and act as a team.

Public Quizzes Council Hopefuls At Voters Forum

Candidates for Upland City Council were quizzed by the public Monday night at a forum sponsored by the League of Women Voters.

The league takes no sides in the election, but tries to present candidates' views by sponsoring such a meeting for the public.

Questions and statements concerning conflict-of-interest sparked the meeting.

George Gibson held that conflicts existed with Bob Marriott working for a lumber company and the resultant pressure by developers.

Mr. Marriott said there was no conflict, that 95% of his company's business was done outside Upland, yet his company provided 20% of the total sales tax revenue enjoyed by the city, thus making his firm one of the largest contributors to the citizens' welfare.

He also stated that conflict of interest legally required a "direct" relationship and involving 5% or more of gains and profit.

Mr. Gibson also charged that William Kistinger was involved in conflict of interest in that his mother-in-law owned property on Mountain Ave., and the industrial and commercial zoning positions taken touched this area.

Mr. Kistinger said there had been no sales of property made, that no adjacent property was involved, that their ownership was a "personal thing" and not subject to a direct relationship with his membership on the Council.

He also referred to the "skulldudgery" as depicted in error by the publisher of THE NEWS. He said he could not see any taint of conflict on this council.

Ronald Rossitter indicated there should be "no conflicts of interest."

He also said he owned 10 acres now used for a poultry business, that it might be rezoned R-3 in the future, which appears to be the pattern of the area, but that he could see no problem of his being on the Council.

Mr. Kistinger also commented durint the discussion that any action taken on such things as water mains, utilities, streets, all basically involved "conflict" for they benefited a man if he owned property anywhere in the city.

George Gibson also decried the lack of fire protection in Upland, citing the fact that "right now" there was one fireman on duty in the police station as dispatcher. He compared Upland to Colton where the fire department has 29 men. He charged the Council was "delinquent" in not providing fire protection.

William Kistinger told the audience that the city has provided a site at 20th and San Antonio for a second fire station, and would build and man it probably from the next year's budget, with an estimated expenditure of some $88,000. He said the fire department was experienced.

Mr. Marriott noted that Upland had one of the lowest fire loss ratios of any city in the area.

Mr. Gibson said that Colton had a Class 3 fire insurance rating, while Upland was Class 6, and said Upland was "pretty lucky" in its fire losses so far.

Euclid Avenue came in for its share of discussion.

Bob Marriott noted that despite the vote of the people on the parkway issue, he would not commit himself as to how he would vote until all the facts were presented at the Council table and then he would make his decision.

Ronald Rossitter noted this "basic difference' between' Mariott and himself, stating he "absolutely" follow the decision of the voters. He said if there was no legal obligation to follow the parkway vote, there certainly was a moral one.

George Gibson stated he was happy to make a commitment, that the people should know who was responsible or not for following their wishes.

As to who profited from raising the water stock prices, the stockholders or city taxpayers, Mr. Kistinger explained how the price had been $375 a share, with the city requiring the subdivider to give the stock to them. He explained that the price was raised to $500, $535, and $550, and that it now appeared that another re-evaluation might be made.

Mr. Rossitter noted that the "confusion" had "people worried" and that the question of water had been badly handled, that people had to be given "confidence" in the election of new members.

Mr. Marriott commented that the appraisal was just that, that a price could be put on anything, but there had to be a buyer.

Mr. Gibson touched upon Parks and park development, saying that this was very essental to the youth especially, but to all ages.

Mr. Kistinger noted that the city long ago had added a 10-cent tax override to buy park sites, that land was being purchased near every school if possible, 10-acre sites by the junior highs and 5-acre sites by the elementaries. He mentioned the various sites for Little League, Pony League, reservoir, San Antonio, and Memorial as progress for the city.

On how Mr. Kistinger could justify the changes in zoning on Mountain Ave. in the light of the opposition of planners, the incumbent noted that although there is a lot of commercial zoning in the city, much of it is not in either good or proper areas. He said the growth pattern of Upland changed over the years, and the emphasis on commercial development likewise has changed.

Mr. Rossitter said he felt that such items as increased traffic in an area such as Mountain did not call for 4-lane highways and "ribbons" of commercial zoning. He also decried the manner in which these changes are being made in violation of the master plan.

The master plan came in for discussion.

Mr. Marriott felt that the master plan needed changing, that this would be done through hearings, that we needed more commercial areas. "Zoning must be done before the people get here," he pointed out.

Mr. Gibson said he did not oppose changing the master plan, but did oppose disregarding it.

Mr. Kistinger noted that "people have property they have held since 1913" and they have a right to represent their interests in the land.

He also noted the major changes in zoning policy over the years as Upland has grown.

NEWS Award Challenged

that these situations are not true:

That the State Department of Health became extremely provoked with San Antonio Water Co., and threatened revokation of their water license because of improper treatment of water in the Heights area?

—That Kistinger used city proxy votes to unseat Whitney and Wass and install Mike Kelber et al in a secret power play that gained control of the water company.

—That the Water Company sold its own general manager land which is estimated at 6 to 12 times the actual value, that this transaction never has been explained to the stockholders, let alone taxpayers of Upland who have $1,500,000 invested in or earmarked for water stock.

—That all dealings of land spin-off and value of stock, and major actions of the water company were secret; that the manager resigned and was fired because of the power shift and basically because he would not provide the Board with adequate information in their opinion.

—That the NEWS was kicked out of meetings and refused information.

It is the opinion of THE NEWS that Mrs. Ward would serve herself and her associates, let alone the taxpayers and voters, in better fashion if she faced FACTS in a straight-forward manner rather than this attempt to question the value of THE NEWS' award.

We challenge Mrs. Ward to disprove the truth of what we have printed . . . and will continue to print.

Her letter can serve, as far as we are concerned, with additional proof (if that can possibly be necessary) as to the urgency of electing new men to the Upland City Council, such as George Gibson and Ronald Rossitter.

Council Meet-

sen reiterated his argument against "a logical extension of an R-3 zone."

"Just a short time ago, this was not R-3," he said, "but we keep extending it. It's a misuse of the land and just because we made one mistake, there's no use to keep on making them."

Councilman A. M. Hawkins, Jr. again stated his opposition to R-3 zoning north of Foothill.

Councilmen William Kistinger and Bob Marriott aided by Mayor Abner Haldeman's affirmative vote, approved the zone change.

In other action, the Council approved a zone change from A-1 and R-1-D to R-3 for an area along the south side of Arrow Highway, 1,400 feet east of Benson Ave.

—Approved a zone change from A-1 to R-1-A (Single family, 20,000 sq. ft. lot area) on 27 acres along the south side of 23rd St. between Euclid Ave. and Emerson St. Lytton Savings had requested a zone change to R-1-B (15,000s q. ft.). Because of protests from the audience, however, the zone was kept R-1-A according to adjacent property.

Hi School Grades Due Next Week

Friday, April 10 marks the end of the third quarter at Upland and Alta Loma High Schools.

Parents of Alta Loma students will receive the quarter grades Thursday or Friday, April 16 or 17. They will be mailed.

Upland High grades will be given to the students by the latter part of next week, probably Friday afternoon, April 17. Upland High School does not mail quarterly grades as to most local high schools.

UPLAND BOY BORN

San Antonio Community Hospital announced that Mr. and Mrs. George Melendrez, 1332 Elmwood, Upland, have a new baby boy. He was born Friday, April 4.

Uplander Honored

The Simon and Schuster Inc. publishing company recently honored the Uplander Motor Hotel by awarding them a "four star" rating in their Mobil Travel Guide book. This award defines the Motel as being "outstainding —worth a special effort to reach," according to the Guide.

Inspectors are sent out by the guide book service to determine the ratings. They arrive at the motel, hotel, or restaurant unannounced and look for quality, services rendered, and "extras" offered by the establishment.

The guide book is available in six editions that correspond to the six sections of the United States that the publishers have divided.

The book is available at Mobil Service Stations and bookstores.

Ted Lyman, Uplander Motor Hotel Manager, deems it an honor to be awarded the honor, and feels that it helps him and the Motel to "advance the prestige of the City of Upland, in visitor's minds."

One of the ways the Uplander achieves this goal is to furnish industry with a location for their conventions and meetings. A typical schedule for one week's operation for the Uplander is this week's:

Wednesday, April 8 — The 1964 annual Sales Convention of the Pasco Steel Corporation. This is a national firm with headquarters in Pomona. This year marks the first time that Pasco will be holding their annual meeting in a motor hotel in the local area.

Wednesday, April 8 — An Aviation Division of General Electric Company will hold their headquarters at the Uplander, while they tour and review a new type of helicopter at Ontario Airport. Members from around the world will attend the meeting.

Sunday and Monday, April 12 and 13 — The Master Hosts Referral Association of Luxury Motor Hotels, of which the Uplander is a member, will hold their western regional meeting.

Also, the Libbey Glass Division of Owens/Illinois will hold a meeting next week.

County Planners Refuse To Approve Central Site

(CNS) — The Central School District's request for approval of a Cucamonga area school site was thrown back into the lap of school trustees at the April 2 session of the County Planning Commission.

For the second straight week, commissioners refused to approve a 10-acre site on the west side of Vineyard Ave., 660 feet north of Arrow Route.

Don Newcombe, of the planning department staff, reported to commissioners that he had spent the morning on the site with school officials and that he could not recommend that the county give its blessing to the location.

The site is unsatisfactory because it is on a secondary highway, Vineyard Ave., and because there are some problems with drainage from Cucamonga creek, Newcombe said. He recommended that the commission urge the school district to take any one of three steps:

Unify with other local districts, because there is an existing school in the immediate area; find another site; build a road to the proposed site so it will not be served by Vineyard Ave.

Newcombe said finding another acceptable site seemed unlikely, because school officials have been searching the area for a location better than the one proposed. He praised school people for their efforts in seeking school property.

Central district trustees now can ignore the planning commission's refusal to approve the Vineyard Ave. 10 acres if they wish. All they have to do is wait 30 days after applying for planning commission approval and then purchase the property.

However, complications in getting state aid for school building often arise when a site has not been approved by local planning authorities, so school officials are reluctant to buy land that has not been able to meet county planning commission standards.

Cucamonga Plans New Post Office

Plans to acquire a new post office in Cucamonga, California were announced April 6 by Postmaster General John A. Gronouski.

"The new building," Mr. Gronouski said, "is designed to carry out Post Office Department's objective of a more efficient postal service combined with improved working conditions for our employees.

"President Johnson has asked us to exercise frugality in conducting our governmental operations, and we are doing so. New construction, therefore, is being authorized only when it is demonstrated that the need is urgent and no other alternative is available."

The alternatives, Mr. Gronouski explained, would involve remodeling of the existing building or moving into other suitable quarters in the same community.

The building in Cucamonga will be located on the northeast corner of a proposed new 88' street and proposed extension of Hampshire St. adjoining the Cucamonga Shopping Center.

Preliminary plans call for 5,454 square feet of floor space, with an area of 11,800 square feet for parking and movement of postal vehicles.

The Postmaster General said the building will be constructed under the Department's Lease Construction program, with the Government's capital investment limited to postal equipment. While leased to the Government, the building will remain under private ownership and the owner will pay local real estate taxes.

Plans and specifications for the new building, as well as bidding forms and other pertinent data, will be made available to prospective bidders at an early date, at which time the Department will advertise for bids.

The site option will be assigned to the successful bidder, who will purchase the land, construct the building and lease it to the Department.

San Antonio Community Hospital announced that a girl was born April 3. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bangle, 9340 Foothill Blvd., Cucamonga.

A BOY ARRIVES

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Koesema, 10229 Dorset Ave., Cucamonga, are the parents of a new son. He was born Friday, April 3 at San Antonio Community Hospital.

Assemblyman, was also a guest at the meeting. He presented the audience with detailed information concerning the San Antonio Water Company and the problems therein.

"We learned that many Upland citizens, including other Council members, were responsible for obtaining good water for Upland," Mrs. Wilder said.

Details of a Citizen's Committee which studied the matter are available at City Hall to anyone who requests to see them. Past issues of the Upland News give full coverage of Upland's water problem, and, in fact, won that newspaper a prize.

Mr. Christenson assured the group that a change on the Council will have no effect on the kind of water received in Upland.

The question was raised as to whether or not Upland citizens were getting the value for their tax dollar to which they are entitled.

Mr. Ronald Rossitter suggested that the first point to consider in answering such a question would be the city budget and its apportionment of funds. He deplored the secrecy which now shrouds budget meetings, and stated that he believes that the Council and the Upland citizens should evaluate the proposed budget together.

"If budget sessions were conducted openly," Mr. Rossitter said, "we could then decide for ourselves whether or not our monies were being wisely or poorly spent and move to correct any deficiencies."

Mr. Gibson, Mr. Rossitter and Mr. Christenson were unanimous in their belief that such open meetings are necessary.

Toward the end of the evening, Mrs. Bonnie Hunt, candidate for City Clerk, was introduced to the group.

"The Upland Homeowners' League endorses Mrs. Hunt because she has all of the qualifications so necessary for this position," said Mrs. Wilder.

The meeting closed with an aptly quoted proverb: "It is not WHO is right, but WHAT is right."

"The Homeowners" believe that this phrase applies to the present campaign. Among our basic reasons for endorsing candidates Ronald Rossitter and George Gibson is the fact that they both stand, not for themselves, but for WHAT IS RIGHT for the City of Upland," Mrs. Wilder concluded.

Curriculum Commission Decisions Mean Millions of $ to Publishers

By Leonard Kreidt

Education News Service
This is the second of a two-part series of articles explaining the operation of two of the State's most controversial and significant boards —the State Board of Education, and the State Curriculum Commission. The Editor.)

California's Curriculum Commission could logically be renamed the "California Textbook Commission" because that is what it does —selects textbooks for the public elementary schools.

There is more than meets the eye—in California, at any rate—to choosing textbooks. The 11-man Commission, including two women and eight men (one post is vacant) who serve without pay, underscore by their occupations the seriousness attached to this function by the State Legislature. All are professional educators — all but one appointed by the State Board of Education.

The chairman is Dr. Max Rafferty, State superintendent of public instruction, the only non-appointive member. The vice-chairman is Dr. Irwin O. Addicott, vice-president of Fresno State College.

Dr. Kenneth P. Bailey is principal of Pacific High School, San Bernardino. Dr. Laura Henry Doyle heads the Mathematics Department and counseling at Menlo-Atherton High School, Atherton. Dr. Richard P. Feynman is professor of theoretical physics at California Institute of Technology, Pasadena.

Dr. Samuel C. McCulloch is professor of history at San Francisco State College. Dr. Harry M. McPherson is superintendent of Napa Public Schools. D. Russell Parks is superintendent of Fullerton Elementary School District. Mrs. Elaine H. Stowe is a program specialist in English Language arts for the Sacramento City Schools. Mrs. LaVon H. Whitehouse is assistant to the director of curriculum and elementary curriculum coordinator for Los Angeles City Schools, and Dr. Ruth Howard heads the foreign language department at Lowell High School, San Francisco.

If selecting texts for California elementary classrooms were merely a matter of choosing the best from those available, professional education background might not be so important for the Commission members.

However, California has a unique selection system which, in the end, puts the credit or blame for textbook quality on the Curriculum Commission, not the publishers. Consequently, the Commission members have to know what they're doing, educationally speaking.

Here's how it works:

First, a committee of the Commissin writes a set of criteria for a textbook, let's say in history, to replace books in the schools whose 4- to 8-year adoption period will run out in the next three years. These criteria become the specifications in a call for bids on the books.

Interested textbook publishers then either order books written, or revise existing books, to conform to the criteria.

In making their bids, the publishers supply from 300 to 350 sample copies which the Commission "farms out" to local committees of teachers, curriculum specialists, superintendents, subject matter specialists in colleges, laymen, PTA members, etc. Aggregating some 3,000 persons, these committees carefully study and evaluate the books assigned to them.

The results of their studies are reported back to the Commission. The Commission eliminates all but a favored few books before developing a final recommendation to be presented to the State Board of Education at about the time the publishers' bids are opened.

Commission members and their 3,000 volunteer aides have worked in ignorance of the prices bid on each book. This is in accord with their desire to concentrate on choosing the best books regardless of price, which in this year's text adoptions alone will total approximately $15 million.

A 30-day public display period follows with the books on view in 10 public libraries throughout the State. Written comment, criticial or otherwise, is invited, to be sent to the State Board of Education.

At a subsequent "textbook adoption" meeting with the State Board, Commission members explain their recommendations, the textbooks, are adopted subject to revisions required by the Curriculum Commission to remedy errors, omissions or extraneous material discovered by the 3,000 evaluators, Commission members and lay citizens. To illustrate how thorough the system can be, one publisher was required to delete two entire chapters from an adopted book. Another publisher was required to add an entire new chapter to his offering.

While revisions are under way, funds to pay for the books are requested from the State Legislature, contracts are written and signed, and, finally, the books go to print. Distribution to the classrooms comes about 18 months after the official adoption of a book by the State Board, or about three years after the criteria are written. The Board is now endeavoring to cut this period down to two years.

California is able to use this complex system, which publishers sometimes find expensive in speculative investment, for a good reason: it is the largest buyer of textbooks in the nation, taking approximately 10 per cent of the annual output.

Standards set up by the Curriculum Commission are usually useful for the Nation as a whole, according to State Department of Education textbook specialists, and publishers profit from the research and experience which go into the criteria. Conversely, California often makes good use of the findings in other States.

As a consequence, publishers meeting in Sacramento recently, under State Department of Education auspices, agreed that textbooks are getting better as nationwide research and experience find their way into new and revised editions.

(She says everyone is welcome. Coffee and dessert will be served.

Mrs. Gayle Austin, home adviser for the University of California Agricultural Extension Service, will give you tips for treating all kinds of windows—large or small, formal or informal. She will show various fabrics and materials suitable for window treatment, and discuss various styles. Mrs. Austin will be on hand at the end of the meeting to answer your questions.

March Business Activity Shows Moderate Decline

After five consecutive months of record-breaking performances, Southern California's business activity registered a moderate decline in March, Security First National Bank's research department reported.

As of the week ended March 27, the bank's business index was reported at 137.9 (preliminary), 1.9 below the all-time high of 139.8 set in February. The March reading was nine points above the same period of the year ago.

Despite the slight decline, overall economic activity in the 14-county area is running seven per cent ahead of last year, the bank said.

Construction activity and real estate sales, the two major sources of strength in the previous months, were partially responsible for the decline, Security Bank's researchers noted.

Although the dollar volume of construction activity in March was above the previous month (an estimated $330 million versus $37 million) and the number of deeds recorded in Los Angeles County also was ahead of February (22,000 against 19,800), the decline occurred after adjustments for seasonal influences, the bank said.

Bank clearings, another strong business component in the preceding months, dropped slightly, while utilities showed a minor advance.

Based on the latest data available, employment in the Southern California metropolitan areas approximated 3,900,000 during February, an increase of nearly 100,000 over the like 1963 period.

Unemployment was estimated at 275,000 relatively unchanged from the corresponding 1963 period.

Chateau by Thomasville

Endearingly informal in mood, Thomasville's new Chateau Collection, creates an air of friendliness and relaxation, whether in a dining alcove or a full scale room. The furniture itself is colorful; the table top, with design interest in marquetry, and the china are in a warm Chandelle fruitwood finish. The table pedestal is in antique white or fruitwood. The slate top huntboard is an antique green with white trim or fruitwood.

The huntboard will serve a buffet dinner here, or a cocktail party when used in the living room; the 44" table extends to 84" to accommodate parties as agreeably as dinner for two. Important considerations for the homemaker who knows that for all the emphasis on styles and decor, versatility is a foremost consideration in furnishings today.

A complete group of distinctive and diversified designs for living room, dining room and bedroom, the Chateau Collection is a beautiful blending of informality and elegance, so increasingly sought after by the American public today.

Two City Clerk Candidates Discuss Responsibilities

(Editor's Note: Two of the candidates for the office of Upland City Clerk have taken advantage of the offer of this newspaper to present information to the voters relative to their candidacies. The following articles were prepared by candidates Bonita Hunt and E. Lucile Paulin.)

Bonita Hunt

"A city always means people, and municipal government is an orderly means of serving those people. The kind of government we have and how the people are served depends on the interest and action they themselves take in local affairs.

"It is every citizen's duty, as well as privilege, to be interested in the offices and the qualifications of the people who desire to fill those offices. This is more easily possible at the local level of government than at any other.

"These candidates are your neighbors, friends, and fellow workers, and are interested in the same vital issues that you are—issues that affect our everyday lives.

"I am seeking the position of City Clerk of Upland because I am interested in the further growth and development of this fine city. This non-partisan position would give me an opportunity to be of service not only to the elected City Council and other city officials, but to all the people of Upland.

"After receiving thorough training in secretarial skills, I worked for five years in various types of offices before coming to Upland. My local experience has been with the Upland School District where I am currently secretary at Magnolia School.

"These four years with the Upland schools, serving as secretary to the Upland Chapter of American Field Service, and my past activities in church and other organizations have given me valuable experience which would help me do a conscientious job, if given the opportunity to serve the people of Upland as their City Clerk.

"Important issues, dedicated candidates, and interested citizens who make their choices known at the polls can only make a better Upland."

Bonnie Hunt

E. Lucile Paulin

"The office of City Clerk is charged with many responsibilities including conducting city elections, recording and indexing proceedings of the City Council, processing legal documents, composing resolutions, proclamations, memoranda and correspondence, as well as being custodian of the official city records and the City Seal.

"If only secretarial skills were needed, this office would be under civil service and an examination in shorthand and typing would be required. It is an elective office because the City Clerk is responsible directly to the people, as are the members of your City Council.

"I feel that my experience and ability in organization, as well as my general office experience, will be of great service in this office.

"I recognize the responsibilities entrusted to this office and would strive to render a high standard of public service if I am elected."

E. Lucile Paulin

Alta Loma Zoning Delay Protested

(CNS) —Action on zoning changes to clear the way for two proposed residential developments in the Alta Loma area was delayed again April 2 by the County Planning Commission, to await a decision on any changes in the Chaffey College Community Master Plan.

Ralph Miller, speaking for Eugene Nisbet and Keith Koehler, applicants for a zone change for 80 acres, protested any additional delay. He pointed out that their request for zoning for single family dwellings on smaller lots than the acre now required has been before the commission for "six or seven months."

The property involved lies on the north side of Orange Ave., between Carnelian and Sapphire Sts.

Miller said that the applicants, although they had originally asked for zoning to allow lots of 7,200 square feet of area, would accept lots of 10,000 square feet.

Commissioner F. G. Yoder declared that he did not see why the project should be delayed, as the commission had indicated at its recent hearing on the Chaffey College master plan that it would approve some gradual increase in lot sizes north from the Highland Ave. freeway.

Neil Pfulb, county planning director, said the commission had indicated this, but the proposed increase from 7,200 square for lots by the freeway to 20,000 square feet in the foothills did not mean that lots of 10,000 square feet would be recommended for the area where the Nisbet - Koehler property is located.

Pfulb also said that the commission had asked its staff to make recommendations for changes in the master plan and that the master plan changes should be acted upon before there are any changes of zone.

"If you change this zoning now," he said, "you are committing yourself to altering the master plan to conform with the zoning."

"You're right," admitted Yoder. "But I still don't feel these good people should have to wait so long for our decisio."

Commissioner J. H. Paterson said he thought the delay was justified. "They realize these things take time," he declared. "This is a beautiful area, and I'd like to see a beautiful job of zoning and planning done for it."

"This delay is a real hardship," said Miller. "The builder who wants to develop the land is ready to go. We are working on an extended escrow, so time is of the essence. But I guess we can work it out if we have to delay this a little longer."

Arthur Bridge, who said he farms 160 acres in the area and has lived there for 46 years, told the commission that he would like to second Commissioner Paterson's proposal that time for good planning be taken.

"It is a beautiful area," he said, "and I'd like to throw my trust with your board to plan for it."

The commission then continued its hearing on the Nisbet-Koehler zone change request to May 14. A report on proposed changes in the Chaffey College master plan is to be made on May 7.

The other zone change request on which action was delayed, also until May 14, was that of Western Valley Mortgage Corp. This firm is asking for zoning for single family dwellings with building site of 12,000 square feet of area for almost 10 acres on the west side of Amethyst St., south of Banyan St.

The land is now is zoned for homes on lots of 20,000 square feet.

Clerk Candidate Endorsed

We have three charming ladies as candidates for the position of Upland City Clerk, but charm is only a part of the adequate functioning of the office.

With the growth of the city, the City Clerk becomes increasingly more important to the orderly conduct of city business. It requires the ability to follow through on many Council actions and it requires the necessary adaption to detail.

This is a FULL TIME job, and with it goes FULL-TIME responsibility.

We firmly believe that of the three candidates, only Mrs. Bonnie Hunt has the experience and background to handle adequately the demanding position.

Mrs. Hunt is the only candidate of the three who has experience in shorthand. This ability alone would place her above the others. Shorthand is essential to keep pace with Council actions so that the proceedings will not be held up while the Clerk attempts to take motions verbatim with a less satisfactory method.

Mrs. Hunt's solid background in general office work, record keeping and supervision gives her a definite advantage to handle the duties of City Clerk. For the past four years she has worked for the Upland School District and has compiled an excellent work record.

Although we appreciate the fact that the other two candidates, Mrs. Ruth Mackall and Mrs. Lucile Paulin, have the civic-mindedness to seek the City Clerk position, we feel that their background would not be as perfectly suited to the job.

Mrs. Mackall, for example, has not "worked" since her marriage. We are not implying that being a housewife, mother and active club woman is not work, but it is not the office experience and work background necessary to cope with the position she seeks.

Mrs. Paulin is, perhaps, the best known of the candidates. Her education has been primarily in mathematics and her working experience in real estate and clothing supply.

In our endorsement of Mrs. Hunt for the City Clerk position, we are taking into consideration primarily the facts pertaining to past experience and the necessary qualifications for the job.

We are convinced that she is the best qualified and highly recommend that Upland citizens cast their votes for Bonita Hunt for City Clerk.

We cannot pass this opportunity of saluting Mrs. Hazel Cassell who will leave the post of City Clerk after 19 years.

We believe she has been an exceptionally good City Clerk and the City of Upland has been fortunate to have had such a conscientious person in this important position.

Let's Preserve the Parkway

The ballots for the April 14 City Election will contain the oft-discussed measure on the Euclid Ave. Parkway landscaping.

It's no secret how we feel about this proposition. During the past 18 months we have written thousands of words on the subject and all have been aimed at preserving the present simplicity and uniform pattern of shade trees without spending $23,000 (a minimum, we think) of tax money for unnecessary walls, flag poles, fountains, pool, benches, etc.

We have also printed any information given to us by those favoring the proposed new landscape design and all "Letters to the Editor" regardless of the views taken.

While attempting to convince our readers that the traditional beauty of our famous avenue should remain, we also have attempted to be completely fair with both sides.

For those who have seen the proposed plans of the 10 fountains which may be installed on the Euclid Parkway in Ontario, we hope your stomach has recuperated.

Apparently there are no places to spend money other than to jazz up the Parkway in circus fashion. Some believe we must "go modern" in an attempt to become another Palm Springs. Have people forgotten the true beauty of nature?

We are firmly convinced that it will be to Upland's advantage to keep the parkway's present design and to replace the dying pepper trees with a single variety of similar texture.

The proposed five varieties will only add confusion to the present peaceful arrangement of the parkway.

We recommend that voters mark their ballots on April 14 according to the following as the measures will appear:

MEASURES SUBMITTED TO VOTE OF VOTERS

SHALL THE CITY OF UPLAND replace pepper trees in the Euclid Avenue Parkway from Seventh Street to Foothill Boulevard with the uniform planting of one type of suitable shade tree in the same manner as the peppers are now planted — without any further landscaping?	YES	X
	NO
SHALL THE CITY OF UPLAND follow the landscape design for the Parkway on Euclid Avenue from Seventh Street to Foothill Boulevard as recommended by the Parks and Recreation Committee and as shown in drawings on display in the Upland City Hall?	YES

THE INVADERS

Thirst for Power

In their endless drive for greater authority over the lives of the citizenry, federal bureaucrats resort to an almost ritualistic mode of operation to gain their objective — they thrust protection on people regardless of whether they need it or even want it.

This has never been more vividly demonstrated than in the current bureaucratic campaign for enactment of a complex of laws, virtuously labeled as requisite to "consumer protection," when in actual fact they would work to the disadvantage of the buying public by clamping a straitjacket on the operation of the market place.

In the armory of weapons rigged by the self-appointed protectors to enable them to force their intrusion into the processing and sale of goods, are legislative bills that would:

- Permit government dictation of the size, weight, content and labeling of packaged goods.
- Prohibit bargain sales through censorship of related advertising.
- Restrict the extension of credit.

As they beat the bushes — through local meetings and massive publicity — to gain support for the bills, the bureaucrats are spreading the completely false insinuation that consumers must be shielded from the merchants in their communities, from the sales people with whom they deal, from the advertisers in their local papers and from the manufacturers whose products they buy because they are all out to cheat them.

Completely ignored by the purveyors of this unfounded charge is the solid fact that the rights of consumers, in every possible respect, already are more than amply protected by existing federal, state and local laws.

It is our opinion that if the consumers need any additional protection at all, they need to be protected from the bureaucrats who are endeavoring, with every slick trick in the book, to sell them a package of laws that would prove detrimental to their, and the nation's, best interests.

With Men In Service

Arjen S. Jager, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arjen W. Jager of 72 W. Eighth St., Upland, has begun basic training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

The nine-week training includes naval orientation, history and organization, seamanship, ordnance and gunnery, military drill, first aid and survival.

During the training recruits receive tests and interviews which determine their future assignments in the Navy. Upon completing the program they are assigned to service schools for technical training or to ships and stations for on-the-job training in a Navy rating specialty.

Naval training produces the power in seapower by supplying qualified personnel to man the ships, planes, and shore stations of today's Navy.

To the Editor:

I am an old timer of Upland and I have lived on beautiful Euclid Ave. many years, and I hope that we can keep the Ave. AS IS, with the two rows of trees with the exception of having new trees as much like the pepper trees as possible, green and lacy looking the year round.

The Avenue with green trees has the drawing card of many new people coming to Upland and I hope many will go and vote to keep Euclid with the two rows of trees and not a conglomeration of large and small trees.

Evidently the gentleman that wrote the piece in the Upland News has not lived in Upland very long and did not see the pepper trees in their beauty, years ago, after all what better or beautiful tree could we have had.

A tree is like a person, when one is seventy years old (as these trees are,) you can not expect to do as when you were thirty or forty years.

They did not have to be hacked or mutilated as he expressed it.

Surely some nice tree can be found that will take the water and stay green all the year.

Sincerely
Mrs. S. G. Moore

To the Editor:

We wish to commend Mr. Max Hawkins and the Park and Recreation Committee on the proposed manner in which the Euclid parkway question may be settled. Though we are not necessarily enthralled by all of the proposals, of which we have been informed by rumor or rote, we appreciate the opportunity to participate in the ultimate decision regardless of how attractive or hideous those results may be.

Since it seems that we are to have the opportunity to elect the fate of the Euclid Parkway we suggest abundant publicity be forthcoming regarding the options upon which we may vote and that those options be spelled out in exact wording and precise terms.

Only a fully informed public can make a decision which will ultimately be satisfactory to the majority. Upon these considerations hinges the usefullness of the democratic process as opposed to the Kissinger system so often applied in the transaction of Upland City business.

Sincerely,

To the Editor

Originally we intended this letter to be a protest against the decision of the Upland City Council to virtually disregard the referendum concerning Euclid Parkway which will appear on the ballot April 14. That a governing body of a representative government should not respect a majority vote of the people is outrageous.

How can citizens of a community be expected to respect the governing officers if they do not abide by the wishes of the citizens in all matters. Obviously such representatives will eventually lose the respect of their constituents and hopefully be replaced.

Upon further consideration, however, we were confronted with the possibility that the outcome of the election might favor the architect's hodge-podge parkway scheme and that all hope of retaining Euclid Avenue's beauty and simplicity might vanish. Since there has been some evidence that many people, hopefully the majority, do not favor the plan, such an outcome could result only from apathy or failure to vote.

Thus we not only protest the idea of the City Council's ignoring the referendum, but also appeal to the citizens to make known their desire to keep one kind of tree in the Euclid Avenue Parkway without further landscaping.

Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. John H. Self

The Ontario-Upland Junior Chamber of Commerce would like to express it's most sincere thanks to the Upland News and to the many community business and professional people who made our recent sponsorship of the King Bros. Circus the success that it was. Special gratitude must go to the Fire and Police Departments of Ontario for their help.

This was a new project for the Jaycees to raise funds for our community service projects and it was indeed rewarding. Unhappily, however, although we had checked with several other areas where the Circus had performed, our inexperience prevented us from foreseeing a number of problems such as those of overcrowding and seating.

Many people were kept waiting in the sun on Saturday while the main tent was secured down. Safety required this, but the resulting confusion about seating sharpened tempers. Fortunately, later performances did not have this problem and indeed, an unscheduled peformance was given on Sunday night when it became obvious that many outstanding children's tickets had not been used.

We do believe that the vast majority of viewers enjoyed the show and the generosity of those donating tickets made it possible for thousands of children, including hundreds of handicapped and underprivileged youngsters to encounter for the first time in their lives, the magic of a real-life circus.

Again, our thanks for your help and that of the community. To those few who may feel that all was not as it should have been, our apologies and a promise that next time we will be able to foresee and thereby prevent most of the difficulties.

Very truly yours,
HAROLD A. BAILIN,

TAX TIME

April, the month when spring really begins to change the color panorama of our State, also holds a time for closing the debts of the old year. April 15 is the time when last year's income tax must be paid and the deadline for both federal and state income taxes is most rigid.

Filling out government forms has become almost routine in the life of most of us. However, paying income tax, regardless of how small the amount may be, never quite seems to become a routine activity.

For many of our citizens the federal income tax may seem small because the employer has withheld throughout the year a percentage of all the earnings and forwarded this to the government as a credit against our individual taxes. Withholding of federal income taxes is certainly convenient for the employee and assures the federal government of securing its tax.

However, it unfortunately also lulls many taxpayers into illusions concerning the total amount of taxes paid. Very often the taxpayer is elated over a $100 refund from the government and forgets he may have paid taxes in the thousands.

GOVERNMENT COSTS

MONEY

California income taxes are also due on April 15 and, to date, we have no withholding on these payments by the employer. As the tax forms are filled out and the check is written to pay our comparatively low percentage state income taxes, maybe some of us will begin to think about the services we demand of state government.

Currently the California legislature is considering a State budget for 1964-65 fiscal year exceeding $3½ billions of dollars — the largest State budget in history. These billions of dollars are required to operate the State of California in providing the services and protectinos that we, the citizens require and demand.

NO FREE MONEY

As we pay our state and federal income taxes it is hoped that each citizen will realize that neither state government nor the federal government can operate without the money that comes from every citizen's pocket.

There is no such ting as free government services. What we demand we must pay for; what is voted in by our legislators we must pay for. It is important that every citizen let his legislator at the state and federal level know how he feels concerning government expenditures.

April 15 is tax time and as we close out last year's debt to government it is a good time to scrutinize carefully the total of government at all levels. As many people have already discovered, there is no longer any such thing as a "free lunch."

Letter to the Editor

Author of Euclid Parkway 'Report' Defends Stand

April 7, 1964

To the Editor:

In response to the recently published communication to you defending the December, 1963, proposal for Upland's Euclid Avenue parkway proposal that has come under fire, particularly taking issue with expressions that I have used in criticizing the proposal, and implying that the criticism was an unfair reflection on the professional competence of the designer of the proposal, it might be well to quote from the opening statement of my February 3rd "Report on Upland's Euclid Avenue Parkway."

In the opening section of that report, under the heading "Aim of This Report," I stated, "If different opinions offered previously have been sufficiently explicit and public, as is the case, it is but natural that the presently offered conflicting opinions should be aimed at the earlier ones. That should not be interpreted as personal or malicious or as seeking to ridicule a different viewpoint more than seems necessary to emphasize the present, contrary view.

"By making this offering explicit, on paper, in what has already developed into a clash of views, this author may expect that opponents of the opinions expressed here will seek to discredit these views. If opposing views are honestly stated in a spirit of providing good, pertinent material that can and should be considered before a final decision is made, such views should be welcomed and no personal affront given or assumed.

"By the very nature of the problem, some differences of opinion is to be expected and as those differences are considered reasonably, a reasonable best decision becomes more probable. There is no one solution that is so completely right that all others are, therefore, completely wrong. But there are decisions that violate proper principles to an extent that they may well be considered wrong enough to warrant further search for a better solution."

I believe that any subsequent published statements of mine have been in keeping with that statement of aim. I think it should be noted that, contrary to the import of the recently published defense of Mr. Hershey, I have not issued any published statement going beyond the above quoted statement of "Aim" and pin-pointedly criticising Mr. Hershey's professional competence.

At the time of my "Report on Upland's Euclid Avenue Parkway" delivered to the City Clerk of Upland and a copy left with the Upland Public Library, I knew that Mr. Hershey had offered the plans of the then recent proposal under discussion but I did not know that he was responsible, in any degree, for the earlier changes in the parkway which I also criticised severely, giving rather full reasons for my conclusions.

Mr. Hershey may be in an awkward position that is not entirely of his happy choosing, although he has, willingly or unwillingly, publicly acknowledged, since my report was filed, his responsibility for the planning embodied in the December, 1963, proposal. At the February 4th meeting of the City Council he had at least an ostensible opportunity to disclaim even partial responsibility but very clearly did the opposite.

I realize that a designer often may incorporate in his plans features that he may consider inappropriate, even quite unsuitable, not necessarily because he does not know better or because of carelessness or any kind of professional incompetence, but because the client may have been so specific in setting the program that the designer has little alternative except to comply with the program as given to him or decline to have more to do with it.

Obviously, if the designer recognizes such a situation in time, he should, and probably would try to persuade the client to consider a less rigid program, one that would give the designer latitude to do what he considers importantly right. If he seeks to explain and thus persuade the client, without success, he then has the choice, again, of doing as the client tells him or declining the project.

Considerations involving money and reputation to be had from the project are balanced in determining the designer's ultimate decision, possibly tempered by an expectation, or at least a forlorn hope, that he may be able to lead the client to a better solution, later.

Whatever the reasons that lead a designer to accept a project, he does accept an important measure of responsibility for what he offers as his design. Often, designers do some pretty awful things in such situations, issuing plans of which they are not proud. That is one of the hazards of the profession, but not one to which the designer must expose himself unless he is careless or does not do nearly as well as should be expected of him.

Regardless of whether Mr. Hershey did or did not have unwelcome limitations on the scope of his designing, in the matter under discussion, he has publicly assumed responsibility for the December, 1963, proposal, not only by issuing it but later, at the February 4th meeting of the City

Two Win Honors In National Meet

Two Alta Loma High School students in their first year of shorthand, entered international competition and each earned a certificate for a fluent and accurate style of shorthand.

Brenda Weaver and Susie Hartshorn have received certificates in the 51st International Gregg Shorthand Exhibit, New York City.

Also, five students who entered the competition for Junior Order of Gregg Artists received certificates for attaining skill and artistry in writing Gregg Shorthand. They are Lucille Gutierrez, Stella Hernandez, Karen Stansberry, Shirley Stoebe, and Brenda Weaver.

All of the girls are juniors. They are studying the latest revision of the Gregg Shorthand system—the Diamond Jubilee method.

Each girl submitted samples of her shorthand to the Gregg Awards Department, where they were judged by experts. The certificates were issued by Miss Audrey Schmidt, director.

Geology Students Travel to Death Valley for Study

A bewildering array of geologic phenomena, many exhibited by Mother Earth with near perfection, awaited Chaffey College geology students and staff when they ventured into Death Valley on a recent field trip.

After eight weeks in the classroom, the students got a close look at the rock solid form of things they had been studying. Despite strong, persistent winds, the group was able to observe much that was of interest and to collect rock specimens for class display. (Note: only educational institutions are permitted to collect specimens on national preserves.)

Another purpose of the trip was to obtain color slides of numerous, well-exposed geologic features for use during classroom lecture and discussion.

The trip was under the guidance of geology professors Alfred P. fernandez and Marlin L. Dickey, who has made several trips into the area.

At the outset, Mr. Fernandez summed up the advantages of Death Valley for a geology field trip by answering a student's question this way: "no, there's not really 'more geology' here than elsewhere; geologic features are everywhere. It's just that the dryness of this area has resulted in lack of vegetation and soil cover, making the features much more visible than in most other places."

The presence in the Valley of geology groups from several colleges bore this out. Among schools represented were: College of San Mateo; San Jose State College; and University of Southern California.

Significant geologic formations and conditions were seen throughout the area. However, the Chaffey group did visit a number of the more common tourist attractions, as well. Some of these were: the Ubehebe Crater; Scotty's Castle; Stovepipe Wells; the museum at Furnace Creek (where the group camped); Dante's View; the Devil's Golf Course; and Badwater.

Field trips, however, are not the only off-campus ties of the geology department. From time to time, local rock hounds—some connected with the Bear Gulch Rock Club—seek professional identification of rocks and minerals they have found. A few, in fact, have become so intrigued that they have taken geology and mineralogy courses at the college. These students have stood high in their classes and are always welcome.

However, geology classes at Chaffey are not an easy way to "pick up" four units. Credits earned are readily transferable to four-year colleges. In addition to learning the composition and identification of rock and minerals, students learn, in physical geology, about the action of earth forces and earth structure and topography via maps. In historical geology, the geologic ages, development of life, and development of the geography and climate of continents through time is explored.

Several field trips are taken each year by the geology department, most of them one day long. However, the longer Death Valley trip will be made annually and another longer trip may be added.

Determinative mineralogy, the third course offered in the geology deparment, is an elementary course in the physical laboratory identification of common, important minerals. All these courses are enriching for vacationers, campers and citizens, generally, who wish to learn more about their environment.

The courses are, in addition, quite practical for civil engineers, architects, contractors, home buyers, rock hounds, and transfer students seeking interesting physical science credits.

George Gibson Speaks

'Zoning Vital to Future' Says Council Candidate

(Editor's Note: Taking advantage of the offer of THE NEWS to present any article on issues of the coming City Election, City Council candidate George M. Gibson has prepared the following information for the voters.)

Upland is an exceptionally beautiful city and an outstanding community. Because it is a prime residential area, many people have chosen Upland for their home. They want it to remain a wonderful place to live. The issue of zoning is vital to Upland's future.

The problem of zoning is of particular significance during the rapid growth of the city. In considering this problem we should ask ourselves what is Upland's goal. Do we want it to remain a beautiful and economically sound residential city or do we want it to become a city of low-cost housing honeycombed throughout with marginal and blighted commercial areas?

Many years ago it was decided that Upland's goal was to develop into a beautiful residential city. A guide, known as the General Plan or Master Plan, was developed as a long-range policy guide for the residential, commercial and industrial development of the city. It contemplates future growth. It was formally adopted by the City Council after extensive study, discussions and hearings on the part of former City Councilmen, planning commissions, leading citizens, and citizen groups, and with the professional assistance of an outstanding planning consultant. The Master Plan provides a method of obtaining the best development of the city while protecting the rights and the property values of the individual citizen.

The Planning Commission has carefully followed the Master Plan in its zoning actions. Too frequently, however, the current City Council has over-ridden the Planning Commission and abrogated the provisions of the Master Plan by a 3-to-2 vote. In so doing, they have ignored the best interests of the individual citizens and community as a whole in favor of outside promotional and speculative interests.

A by-product of spot rezoning of residential and agriculture areas to commercial uses against the dictates of the Master Plan has been excessive commercial zoning in Upland. According to planning authorities, over-zoning to commercial uses invites "blight on both the land immediately involved and that nearby."

As of October 15, 1963 there were 343 acres of commercial zoning in Upland, sufficient for a population of 68,000, according to our planning consultants. Less than 70 acres actually were being used for commercial and related zoning. The planning consultants pointed out at that time that the commercial zoning was excessive; nevertheless, over 50 additional acres have since been re-zoned to commercial usage.

Furthermore, the industrial and commercial development committee of the city of Upland, of which one of the incumbents campaigning for re-election is Chairman, has recommended strip zoning along several of the city's principal thoroughfares. If all land recommended by the Committee for commercial zoning were so zoned, it would support a population of approximately one-half million people.

This current policy of some members of City Council to over-ride the Master Plan and the Planning Commission by authorizing spot and strip zoning has caused great concern on the part of homeowners. Planners have consistently pointed out the inefficiency and wastefulness of land that has resulted from indiscriminate commercial stripping of highways. The modern and recommended approach is the planned shopping center with off-street parking.

The basic function of a highway system is to move traffic safely and efficiently. Long strips of commercial uses with their many ingress and egress points considerably diminishes the efficiency and safety of the highway and, as stated above, more land is set aside for commercial than can realistically be supported. The results are observable in many communities — marginal use and serious blighting influences.

The Councilmen recommending such excessive commercial zoning, two of whom are campaigning for re-election, have given as an excuse for deviation from the Master Plan that more land must be zoned for business to increase the sales tax revenue. Yet only a small portion of the land already zoned commercial (approximately one-fifth) is being used. It is not in the community interest to re-zone more land to commercial use just to increase the value of the land involved for speculative or promotional interests.

It has been well stated by planning consultants that the economic stability of a community is directly proportional to the long range quality of its development. Upland has an excellent guide for quality development — the Master Plan. It is essential for the protection of homeowners who will still live in Upland after the promoters and speculators have moved on to more fertile fields of rapid growth that we follow the Master Plan in zoning for Upland's future."

Boy Scout Troop Gets Chartered

Troop No. 652 Boy Scouts of America, sponsored by the Cucamonga Community Methodist Church was officially chartered Feb. 28. They had their first cook out Feb. 29, when they attended the Serrano District Camporee at Prado Dam Park.

The Scoutleaders report the boys have been working hard on their tenderfoot tests and April 9 is the date for their investiture.

Troop No. 642 of Alta Loma will perform the investiture ceremony.

The troop will hold a spaghetti dinner at Klusmon Hall on the church grounds April 30.

Mr. Leonard Bennett the chef for the evening, says: "You haven't tasted spaghetti until you have sampled my spaghetti cooked in the old army style."

Donation is $100 for adults and .50c for children.

Plans are underway for the scouts to have their first overnighter on Saturday April 11. Mr. Frank Klusmon and Mr. Frank Heuston are the Scoutmasters for the new troop.

March Winds Damage Citrus in Some Areas

The first part of the month of March was a continuation of the type of weather that prevailed for the past two months with strong, gusty winds and the lack of any appreciable rainfall.

The last part of the month saw diminishing winds with rainfall over 1.5 inches in most Valley locations, with amounts over 2.0 inches in the foothill areas. Prior to this change in the weather several crops in the county were doomed. Onions, alfalfa, dry land pasture, and grain corps were showing the effects of the drying winds and lack of moisture.

Some fields of alfalfa were replanted several times due to drying winds. A return to irrigation practices will be necessary in a week or two unless thre is additional rainfall.

CITRUS

Navels, 11,753 bearing acres. Navel orange harvest is estimated at 75 per cent complete as of the first of April, and will no doubt terminate during the month, barring inclement weather.

Wind damage during the month was moderate resulting in heavy scarring of the fruit and some drop. Rainfall the latter part of the month will firm the fruit remaining to be picked and prolong the excellent interior quality.

Harvest records reveal a reduction in crop volume from earlier estimates. We, therefore, feel justified in lowering the estimate by 5 boxes to an overall county average of 271 field boxes per acre with higher estimates in the east-end districts.

Lemons, 4,331 bearing acres. Picking of lemons was very heavy during the month and will continue to be so through May.

The strong wind of the 16th and 17th did considerable damage to orchards on high ground in the west-end lemon districts. Limb breakage was most noticeable to young trees carrying heavy crops of pickable fruit while fruit exposed to the northeast was considerably scarred.

The beneficial rain will aid fruit sizing of the present crop on the trees. Diversion of small tree ripe fruit to processing plants continues heavy. Export and domestic shipments were similar to February.

Due to the unusual abundance of small tree ripe fruit, our present estimate is 425 field boxes per acre, a reduction of 5 boxes from the previous month.

Valencias, 6,076 bearing acres. The rain near the end of the month will materially aid the new crop of Calencia oranges that has become prematurely advanced in color due to winds, cool nights and drought.

With sizes below normal this additional moisture will no doubt enhance fruit and tree growth. Wind scarring is also prevalent on this new crop, presently estimated to be 277 field boxes per acre.

Grapefruit, 1,514 bearing acres. Scarring of the new grapefruit crop by strong winds continued during the month. A light drop in fruit is also noticeable.

It is anticipated that the recent rainfall will aid fruit growth for this crop estimated to be around 408 field boxes per acre.

Duties of School Nurse Form Healthy Atmosphere

One of the important offices connected with the running of a successful school is the office of the school nurse. Her duties are manifold, and the hours are long, and the work tedious, but her work is an integral part of the healthy atmosphere around which any worthwhile educational curriculum must be be built.

Upland High School is proud of the health service which is operated on the campus by Mrs. Shirley Cooper.

A dedicated person, Mrs. Cooper spends hours each day fulfilling the many and varied duties which are the task of the school nurse. Her contacts with the students and the faculty of the school are important assets for the complete development of the personalities with whom she works.

Her guidance and understanding are characteristics which are recognized by all with whom she comes into contact.

She is truly an important cogin the wheels of education at Upland High School.

Just what are the duties of the school nurse? Perhaps the most important of her jobs is the inspecting of students returning from illness, accident, or surgery, excusing students from physical education classes when the need is apparent, and suggesting limits for schedules of students who are handicapped in some way.

She is also responsible for suggesting classes and planning for help for physically handicapped students. She is responsible for checking dental and medical appointments for the school guidance department.

A second major task is the giving of first aid care for accidents and illness. She is not able to give medicines or treatments on the school campus, but the first aid care which she administers can be of significant help in the treatment of many of the ills which beset students.

When any accident happens during the school day, first aid is administered and the family is called if the accident is at all serious. Their wishes are then carried out to the letter.

She is also responsible for reporting dog and animal and insect bites to the police and health departments.

A third responsibility of the school nurse is the prevention and control of communicable diseases. She is responsible for excluding from school students who appear to have any communicable condition, of contacting the family of such students, and of explaining to them the regulations relative to the condition of the student.

Vision and hearing testing programs constitute one more valuable service of the efficient school nurse. Through these programs students with eye or ear difficulties are often spotted before major problems arise. Those students found to have difficulties in these areas are urged to consult a competent doctor to remedy their situation.

The teachers in the school are notified of the problems which these children suffer, and are urged to seat the students involved in places which will give them the opportunity of securing the best instruction possible with their handicap.

Home calls when needed, supplying first aid materials to the individual classrooms, reporting health hazards to school authorities, presence at athletic contests, advising for corrective or restrictived physical education programs, providing medical-dental aid through community services and service clubs, heading school nursing clubs, and keeping the school population in good general health are all part of the duties of this hard working member of the school administration.

City-County Goverment Association May Be Formed

A new association of county and city governments may take form if enough of the cities and counties agree to join the proposed Southern California Association of Governments (SCAG), Montclair Councilman Russell M. Jack announced.

Jack is chairman of a committee representing the cities of Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Orange, Riverside and Ventura Counties.

Proposed bylaws of SCAG have been drawn up and soon will be in the hands of city and county officials in the five-county area.

The idea was proposed last year by an association of county supervisors, and would have included several other counties.

Purpose of the organization would be to exchange information and study mutual problems. Originally the county officials proposed an association including some small, far-off counties that do not have the same problems and conditions as the five counties now included.

If three of the five counties and half of the 131 cities in those counties vote to join the association, it will be officially launched.

Under the proposed bylaws worked out by city and county representatives, there would be a general assembly with each representative of a county and each representative of a city having one vote.

In the county supervisors' original proposal each county would have one vote for each of its five supervisors and each city would have just one vote, a provision rejected by the cities.

The general assembly of SCAG wold meet twice yearly. There would also be an executive committee of a representative of each of the five counties and an executive director.

The organization will be financed by assessments of member governments depending on population, if it is formed.

Current versions of the bylaws of SCAG have been worked out by representatives of both cites and counties

Braves Take Sweep of Diamond Events

By Tom Abbott

Rain hit the Southland and delayed all sport events until Friday and Monday last week. It didn't dampen Alta Loma's athletes however as they swept every sporting event.

On Friday, April 3, Steve Kokor struck out 14 Sierra Vista Dons and drove in four runs to help his team to a 9 to 0 victory.

Steve had perfect control walking none while giving up only two hits, one of the infield variety. His fifth inning bases loaded triple opened the game wide open. He collected another RBI in the second inning with a sacrifice fly.

Bryon Wilding and Don Keltner proved to be the Braves big sticks collecting two hits and scoring two runs apiece.

Monday afternoon the Alta Loma track team garnered its first league win of the season v soundly taming the Gladiators of Gladstone 93 to 16. Richard Bare and Karl Von Kliest w ere triple winners in varsity competition while Ron Hernandez nicked up two first place medals. The Braves pulled off first, second, and third place sweeps in the 70 HH, the 100 yd dash, the 220 yd dash.

Ray Romo and Dave Crawford were double winners in B competition as they led their team to a 64.5 to 28.5 victory. The B's swept 3 events, the 100 yd dash, the 220 yd dash and the shot put.

Alan Sandlin was the only C double winner collecting victories in the shot put and pole vault. The C's proved to be victorious by a margin of 45 to 40.

The Braves will travel to Sierra Vista on Thursday to meet the Dons in their fourth league encounter of the season.

The Braves baseball team traveled to Nogales that same day and came home victorious by a 9 to 2 count. Steve Kokor bailed out Jim Keltner in the third inning and went on to win the game to make his league record 3 and 0. Dan Keltner and Dan Solters each collected three single in leading the team to their fourth league victory without a defeat.

The Braves busted the game wide open in the sixth and seventh innings scoring seven runs on seven hits. Steve Kokor bombed a home run and Art Sedlock came through with a clutch hit in the seventh to bring the Braves victory.

The Alta Loma freshmen baseball team remained undefeated for the season as they whipped the Nogales Nobels 6 to 1. Phil Lujan turned in a three hit gem. Joe Henandez was the Braves hitting star collecting two singles. Ruben Fuentes, John Sedlock, Bruce Shipley, Steve Alvarado and Phil Lujan each collected one hit.

Both the Varsity and Frosh teams will meet John Glenn on Friday in crucial league encounters.

Council. That might, or might not, be a result of a sense of loyalty to the client, but whether it was or was not, Mr. Hershey should not expect to escape criticism unless the criticism itself is invalid, not adequately and well reasoned.

I have criticised the proposal and not Mr. Hershey, except inferentially, as he has avowed the proposal as his own and not disavowed it even partially. My criticism has been valid, with careful reasons given and I offered counter suggestions publicly, in writing, with the realization, and even expectation, that they would be subject to criticism. Were my criticism and reasons supporting it so right that the only criticism of my suggestions, and me, is that I have criticised the proposal avowed by Mr. Hershey?

Or is the committee which now comes to the defense of Mr. Hershey's professional standing more responsible for his professional dilemma than has yet come to light? Did the committee, as his client, in an immediate and practical sense, ask or insist upon some of the things which have come under criticism?

The one important part of my criticism was aimed at the choice of five trees that are so utterly dissimilar as to almost insure a visual chaos if used as apparently proposed. The criticism I made of minor elements was no less valid, and had adequately supported reasons given there, but, except as they indicated a program of discarding the harmony of the parkway in Upland, I have stated clearly that I considered those matters as minor ones.

Also, and much more important than a harmony for Upland, alone, I have consistently urged the need for Upland and Ontario to work together for a joint solution of the very real problem of overall harmony of the entire Euclid Avenue parkway for its entire length.

While Upland is in this controversy and Ontario seems headed for a similar controversy over the just disclosed plans for revamping the Ontario part of the Euclid Avenue parkway, it would seem to be a most opportune time for some of the citizens of each city to demand that the best values for both cities be advanced by a single plan that could include full consideration of the traditions and needs of each city. This may be a last good chance to accomplish that goal which can mean so much to both cities in every way and perhaps for hundreds of years to come.

Are there Uplanders interested enough and big enough to seek that sort of a solution before it is too late?

Very truly yours,
Will Reynolds

Edison Tells Scholarship Semi-Finals

Upland High School seniors who have reached the semi-finals in Eastern Division competition for Southern California Edison Company's college scholarships were announcedby C. G. Shores, local manager for the electric company.

Division semi-finalists include: Barbara A. Beard, 1688 N. First Ave., and James D. Davis, 1476 N. Grove Ave.

The district manager explained that Edison will award six four-year scholarships to outstanding students either living in or attending school in its service territory.

One scholarship valued at $4,000 is awarded in each of the electric company's six geographic divisions, he said. This means that one of the students in this division will receive $1,000 per year for four regular academic years at their choice of 15 participating private colleges and universities.

In addition, the college attended by each winner receives a direct grant of $750 per year for the four academic years, the Edison official said.

The ten scholars named semi-finalists for this division will be interviewed by a panel of leading educators and citizens of this area on Saturday, April 11.

Three will be named winners of "Edison Gold Awards for Scholastic Achievement" and awarded suitable engraved wall plaques. They will continue into the finals of the Edison competition, and the scholarship winner will be named by another panel of civic and educational leaders following personal interviews on April 21.

The elite students winning a place in the semi-finals from this division were selected on the basis of their score on the Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Entrance Examination Board and their scholastic record in high school.

Educational Testing Service of Princeton, N. J. and Berkeley, Calif., supervised the selection of semi-finalists in the Edison program.

Chattin' with Chad

by Carolyn Chadwick YU. 2-4259

Well there's not too much news today. I guess there was just so much going on during Easter week that everyone is taking it easy and recuperating now.

I sure would love to hear from you. If you hear of anything that might possibly make an item please let me know. Don't be modest; my phone number is listed at the head of this column every week. They say "no news is good news," but not for me.

Well let's get on to the few items I do know of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl G. Purvis enjoyed a trip to the Colorado River last week-end. They didn't catch any fish, but they did fulfill the main reason for making the trip. They got plenty of rest and relaxation. They were welcomed home Sunday afternoon by their daughter (me).

Boy was I glad to see them, my kids nearly drove me batty. They behave a little better with Grandma and Grandpa around. Of course with the kids always underfoot that is why Mom and Dad needed the trip in the first place, I think.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Loren Tyler spent the latter part of Easter week in Mesa, Arizona visiting Col. Tyler's mother, Mrs. W. O. Tyler.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Priest were relieved to hear from their daughter, Mrs. William Baker, Easter Sunday. Mrs. Baker resides in Fairbanks, Alaska with her husband, Airman First Class Bill Baker. Airman Baker was in Achorage at the time of the earthquake. Fortunately the Baker family received no injuries.

Ramona Fleming, who became the bride of Larry Snow last Friday night, was the guest of honor at a recent bridal shower.

Mrs. Roy Fleming was hostess for the miscellaneous shower. Attending were Mrs. Jack Noon, Mrs. Carl Charleston, Mrs. Ralph Ramirez, Mrs. Bob Swasowski, Mrs. Hazel Swasowski, Miss Linda Swift, Mrs. Haden Swift, Mrs. Ray Swift, Miss Linda Volz, Miss Betty Waters, Mrs. Paul Waters, Mrs. Jerry Mhoon, Miss Yvonne Martinez, Miss Sharon Mitchell, Miss Karen Fleming, Miss Peggy Fleming, Miss Diane Wright, Mrs. Bill Goodwin, Mrs. Gene Fleming, mother of the bride and Mrs. James Sewell, mother of the groom.

Miss Fleming is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Fleming of Upland. Mr. Snow is the son of Mrs. James Sewell of Lynwood and Mr. Vance Snow of Upland.

Mrs. Clarence Gordon surprised her mother-in-law, Mrs. Donnie Gordon, with a birthday party last Saturday.

The party was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gordon and Debra and Douglas Gordon; Mr.and Mrs. Jim Gordon and Ronnie and Linda Gordon; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gordon and Laurie and Ann Gordon; Mrs. Bonnie Gunter and Timmy and Markie Gunter; and Mr. Obie Gordon and Kathy and Stevie Gordon. Mrs. Obie Gordon was unable to attend due to hospitalization for surgery Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Robison and children spent Easter week in Northern California. They visited San Francisco and Redding. The Robinsons enjoyed a couple days of San Francisco sight seeing.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Loren Tyler had guests last week from Arizona. Visiting were Warrant Officer Ray Tyler and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Tyler. Warrant Officer Tyler is with the U.S. Army, he is enroute to South Viet Nam. He is a pilot, flying the Caribu airplane. The Ross Tylers are from Mesa, Arizona.

Camp Course Completed by 68 Women

Sixteen hours of training is required of all leaders in the Camp Fire Girls' program who plan to participate with their group in an overnight camping experience.

Group camping is a favorite program of Camp Fire Girls, Junior High Camp Fire Girls, and Horizon Clubbers.
